LOCAL TRAIN FATALLY INJURES VISITING LADY FROM N. O. TUESDAY

Mrs. Clara Hammer Thomason, Struck by Ingoing Train
At Nicholson Avenue—Dies at Local Hospital During Early Afternoon Hour.

Mrs. Clara Hammer Thomason, 45, wife of Dr. Louis M. Thomason, No. 7925 Birch street, New Orleans, died at the King's Daughters' Hospital, this city, shortly after noon Tuesday as the result of injuries sustained when struck by No. 9 L. & N. passenger train at Nicholson Avenue, Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock. The deceased was said to be walking along the railroad track when struck and her body was thrown into a ditch and injuries included a fractured skull, fractured hip and pelvis bone and other injuries. The deceased had been visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Hammer residing in Jeff Davis avenue for a few days.

The body was shipped to New Orleans on an afternoon train Tuesday by the Fahey Undertaking Co., and the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon with interment in Metairie cemetery.

The deceased was the wife of Dr. Louis M. Thomason, practicing physician, and mother of Dr. Hume A. Thomason, member of the staff of the French Hospital, and Miss Mary Lou Thomason, assistant professor in the Tulane Medical school. Surviving also are the mother, Mrs. Antonie Hammer, New Orleans, a sister, Mrs. Emile Maltry, New Orleans, and two brothers, Louis Hammer of New Orleans and George Hammer of Waveland. The husband, son and daughter, notified of the accident, arrived in Bay St. Louis a brief time after Mrs. Thomason had died.

Rev. Father Leo F. Fahey, attended the injured woman and gave her the spiritual consolation of the Catholic church before she passed away. She was rushed to the King's Daughters' hospital immediately after the accident and given prompt and all possible attention from both the medical and nursing staff. Her condition, however, was such that she was beyond human aid.

A frequent visitor here she was no stranger and was known by quite a number of friends of the Hammer home. Her tragic death is deeply deplored.

MERCHANT IMPROVES IGA STORE

C. B. Mollere of Waveland
Installs Interior Fixtures
That Mean Enterprise

With every assurance that the worst is over and depression will soon be a thing of the past, C. B. Mollere, proprietor and operator of the I. G. A. Store at Waveland, we backs his opinion and displays his enterprise with real cash. There is no comaflouge with Mr. Mollere. He has proven that he has the goods, the prices and does not fail to advertise this fact to the world week after week.

He has had installed in his store this week perhaps a set of the finest fixtures yet seen in a community of this size. He says his fast-growing business demands it; that he must keep step with the march of progress. These fixtures are of steel enamel in white, trimmed with blue and carry a long line of refrigerator show cases, glass lined and from within are displayed all kinds of meats, cut in various sizes and prices. The purchaser sees the meat as is. There is no handling. The setting and procedure of selling is along the lines of strictest sanitary intent.

The back of these fixtures, standing about 8 feet from wall, are large panels of plate mirrors, not only giving a setting but to further emphasize that even unto the walls it is impossible for dirt and germs to accumulate. Everything is metal or glass, highly polished.

Mr. Mollere has further improvement. He says this is just a good beginning. He serves a large part of trade over the county and as far east as Pass Christian. He has the goods and the prices.

"I am a firm believer in advertising," he said, "and my ads in The Echo not only attract much trade, but brings me much profit. This is best proven that my ads appear in The Echo week after week. It must pay unless I would not use the newspaper regularly and circular printing occasionally as well. Of course, I have something to advertise and the people will come to my store from miles around. That the people do not read newspaper advertisement, as some one has tried to say, is all a mistake, especially when a merchant has goods and prices worthy of publicity."

ST. MARGARET'S DAUGHTERS' DOINGS IN THE COMMUNITY

The demand for help for food and medicine has been very great, and the funds of St. Margaret's Daughters are depleted.

The help given by St. Margaret's Daughters knows no color, creed nor class. Nor is its help limited to giving food and drugs; it also has furnished transportation to urgent cases, sending them to New Orleans, Gulfport and Mobile to go to the hospitals there.

Whenever worthy cases develop, they are sent to St. Margaret's Daughters for help, and they are given assistance until now the treasury is depleted.

The average person does not realize how many people in our midst need help, if they did they would rally to the assistance of St. Margaret's Daughters.

There will be a card party given January 19th, at 2 P. M., at The Answer, to create funds to carry on this work. The price at table will be a homemade cake. Tickets are 25c each.

Whether you play cards or not, buy a ticket, you will be helping a worthy cause—you will be working in the vineyard of the Lord.

LOW BID ON RIVER BRIDGE

Horace Williams Co., Inc.,
Offer to Build Short-Cut
Pearl River Bridge
$112,880

Horace Williams Company, Inc., of New Orleans was listed as low bidder for construction of the interstate bridge over East Pearl river on the planned New Orleans Mississippi Coast short-cut highway, his bid was for $112,880.22. The bids were submitted simultaneously to the Mississippi highway commission at Jackson and the Louisiana highway commission at Baton Rouge, Wednesday morning.

The other bids were: Hardaway Contracting Company, Columbus Ga. $125,137.30; Doullot and Erwin New Orleans, $126,781.38 and the Koss Construction Co., Des Moines, Ia., $129,521.15.

The Louisiana commission already has awarded contracts totalling $1,300,000 for building eight miles of embankment and five bridges on its route from the Rigolets to East Pearl River.

The road there is to connect with a line through Logtown, Miss., and the Mississippi commission anticipates connecting the bridge with an airline road to Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

Under this plan the coast route will be shortened 25 miles. With the awarding of this bid nothing will remain in the path of immediately building the short-cut and connecting bridges.

STORY OF FAMILY SUCCESSFUL IN THE MAKING OF POTTERY

At Ocean Springs, Mississippi Gulf Coast—Shearwater Pottery Original And Artistic Known the World Over for Its Originality and Excellence.

By W. D. ROBINSON.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

This is a story of a Mississippi Coast family that has made a success with an industrial enterprise. It is unusual and unique.

Those interested in the enterprise is the Anderson family, composed of G. W. Anderson, father; Mrs. Annette Anderson, mother; Peter Anderson, Walter I. Anderson and J. McC. Anderson, three brothers. The three brothers are the active workers.

The industry is the Shearwater Pottery, located at Ocean Springs, owned and operated by the Anderson family.

Established Feb. 1, 1928, the Shearwater Pottery has grown steadily until it is now one of the important industries of the Mississippi Coast, with a national reputation for high grade products.

The pottery idea originated in the brain of Peter Anderson, who became interested in ceramics. Observing the ambition of his son, G. W. Anderson encouraged the young man. Peter Anderson began experimenting in 1924, and it soon became evident that a special course in ceramics would be necessary to insure success. He went to the Conecoga Pottery, Wayne, Pa., where he worked under E. de F. Curtis until he became well grounded in the business.

Returning to Ocean Springs, Peter Anderson built a small experimental kiln and worked by himself, learning the practical part of making shapes, clay mixing, glazing and firing. Wishing to learn more, in 1926 he went to Alfred, N. Y., and took a special course in glazing under Dr. Binns. Finishing this, he returned to Ocean Springs and continued his experiments until the autumn of 1927, when he felt that his work was good enough to start the present enterprise, which he then organized with himself as president, and his father, G. W. Anderson, as secretary and treasurer. The latter had retired from active business, having been secretary-treasurer of the C. B. Fox Company, in the grain export trade at New Orleans, where the whole family was born.

After the pottery began operations in 1928 two other members of the Anderson family joined forces with Peter Anderson, and worked with him until 1930, these being his younger brothers, Walter I. Anderson and James McC. Anderson. The latter then established a kiln of their own and added the "Shearwater Annex," which they operated on their own account.

Walter I. Anderson studied art at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, for five years, receiving one of the $1,000 Cresson scholarships for travel in Europe, and various prizes for animal drawings. The astonishing variety of sculptured figures, diversity and liveliness of applied design is his contribution to the pottery. His work shows rhythm and movement. James McC. Anderson, youngest of the three brothers, is a pupil of Alden Weir and William Chase.

So much for the five people who have the destinies of Shearwater Pottery in their hands.

The pottery has grown steadily since it was established in 1928, and its popularity has increased until now it is known all over the country. Peter Anderson has developed a delightful feeling for beautiful shapes, besides mastering one by one the innumerable problems to be met in pottery work, and his glazes are varied and beautiful. Walter Anderson's figurines of negroes and pirates have been reproduced in most of the art magazines. J. McC. Anderson's fish designs add greatly to the interest in the pottery.

Now as to the causes of the success of the pottery, for from its inception it has been a success, a steadily growing one.

First was work, steady work by men thoroughly trained to do intelligently what they were doing, and in consequence producing results that attracted attention wherever shown. It is good pottery, and as a result of variety of minds working on it, there is a variety in the

The total amount of money collected was $247.86.

The total amount of baskets distributed was 246.

Thanks were extended to all who in anyway helped to make this movement a success.

Everyone was so enthused it was agreed not to disband, but to keep active and build up funds during the year so that at Christmas time it would not be a burden on the public.

The public is invited to interest themselves in this movement.

Miss May H. Edwards Chairman, Expresses Thanks to Workers

Miss May H. Edwards, of Bay St. Louis, Red Cross Chairman, cloth distribution, on the eve of the work which she heads coming to a close, expresses thanks and appreciation that noble band of women from Bay St. Louis and other county communities, who have helped in that splendid work which she has capably and incessantly conducted.

The expression of thanks follows: As the work of cutting and distributing the government cloth draws to a close I take this method of commending the women of Bay St. Louis for their unfailing and untiring assistance.

In the face of Christmas holidays and prevailing illness they have not faltered, coming voluntarily in the morning and working until late in the afternoon.

Not only does this apply to the Bay St. Louis women, but to the women of Waveland, Kiln, Logtown, Edwardsville and the surrounding territory who have given as freely of their time and service as our home ladies have.

And again I must thank the heads of the different schools throughout the county who have spared no efforts in seeing that the communities were taken care of in the distribution of the garments.

It has been a "man-sized job" but it's been interesting and pleasant and could not have been accomplished without the "everlasting team work" of the women.

I hope we have done the greatest good for the greatest number.

That has been our goal.

products that, in some form, rarely fails to appeal to the taste of those who see it.

Work, along with training, was the most important cause of success, but there have been many contributory minor reasons why the pottery has done so well. It is the work of a united family, all more or less harmoniously striving toward one end. In these days united family ties are not numerous.

The Anderson family has encountered good will from all with whom it has come in contact and the family has done all it could to return this feeling of friendship. It has the ungrudging assistance of many interested and voluntary outsiders who have brought the existence of the pottery to the attention of the public and induced people to visit the plant and show rooms. This outside assistance came from all classes—railroad men, who published accounts of it in their magazines; art magazines did likewise; bankers brought it to the attention of their

What the outcome of Thursday morning's action by the Louisiana Public Service Commission was when the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company petitioned to that body for the discontinuance of Trains Nos. 11 and 12, commonly known as the "Mary Jane," is not known as The Echo goes to press Thursday afternoon for Friday morning. That is, if any decision was rendered.

Every organized body along the Mississippi Gulf Coast has petitioned some form or another, either directly to the railroad company or to the public service commission, and Bay St. Louis has not been remiss in the duty.

The Board of Mayor and City Commissioners adopted the following letter:

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Jan. 11, 1933.
Mr. J. K. Ridgley,
General Passenger Agent
L. & N. Railroad
New Orleans, La.

My Dear Mr. Ridgley:—It has been brought to our attention that the L. & N. Railroad is contemplating removing the "Mary Jane" from their service and from the service of the Coast people.

It has been unanimously voted and we herewith tender you our appeal for the continuance of that service. We firmly believe that the Mary Jane affords the Coast people with a service that no other train does, consequently we feel as tho the L. & N. should continue the service.

It is a supposition on our part that the expense of said train is not so large that in the event you do discontinue the Mary Jane that it would not decrease your operating expenses to such an extent that would overcome the service that it now renders the people along the Coast.

We would appreciate your giving this appeal your very considerate attention and let us know just what your plans are.

Thanking you for any consideration that you may see fit to show this appeal and trusting that you will continue the Mary Jane and also continue to give the people along the Coast your usual very efficient service, I am,

Very truly yours,
G. Y. BLAIZE,
Mayor.

Objection.

Chamber of Commerce interests of Bay St. Louis and Hancock county have neither been asleep in the premises. The following communication directed to the Louisiana Public Service Commission is self-explanatory:

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Jan. 10, 1933.
Louisiana Public Service Commission,
Council Chamber, City Hall,
New Orleans, La.

Gentlemen: The Chamber of Commerce of Bay St. Louis, Miss., has been informed of the contemplation by the L. & N. R. of discontinuing of trains No. 11 and 12.

The Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting agreed and voted to ask your Honorable Body not to discontinue these trains, as to remove them would cause not only a great inconvenience to the people of New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, but would prove disastrous to our best interests.

Trains 11 and 12 serve this section most intimately, to say nothing of the business loss. To discontinue some would prove an individual inconvenience and general hardship.

We pray that this petition will be granted.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES G. MOREAU,
President.

customers; newspaper men published articles on it; hotel men brought it to the attention of their guests; visitors became enthusiastic over it and passed on some of their enthusiasm to their buyers; in fact, an endless chain.

Another minor contributory cause of success was the fact that both the work rooms and show rooms of the pottery are admirably situated, and the outdoor surroundings make it a marked spot.

However, the main thing is the pottery itself. Those who want things for daily use will find them, beautifully glazed, shaped and colored. Those who want the unusual will find much that is unusual and those who want unique pieces will like those made thousands of years ago, somewhat improved by modern glazing and coloring. The pottery is trying to suit all men and women and has faith in the future.

BAD TIMES, BETTER HEALTH.

IN his recent message to Congress, President Hoover stated that "the public health is today at its highest known level."

The Public Health Service reports "the lowest mortality rate in the United States since the creation of the Federal Bureau of Vital Statistics in 1880. The exact toll last year was 11.1 per 1,000 persons."

The reasons why better health accompanied the depression are pointed out by Ruth Reynolds, a writer in the New York Daily News, based upon the viewpoint of doctors, welfare workers, representatives of life insurance companies, and others, as follows:

"1. Most important of all, we are still drawing on the health of the boom years. In public health we are yet to feel the real effects of the depression."

"2. Unemployment brings some health-enforced rest, sunshine, and fresh air, which are excellent for victims, actual and potential, of tuberculosis, heart disease, kidney trouble, and high blood-pressure. There are fewer breakdowns from overwork. There is less overeating and overdrinking."

"3. Clement weather in recent winters has cut the death-rate."

"4. There have been no severe epidemics—that is due in good part to excellent and intensified public-health work."

"5. There have been fewer industrial accidents—due chiefly to unemployment and partially to education."

"6. There have been fewer traffic accidents—depression helps to keep down the number of business and pleasure vehicles."

WOULD HELP RAILROADS.

ONE of the reasons the automobile has been resorted to by passengers instead of the train has been the more convenient schedule available with a car. Railroads would offer the private car and the public bus stiffer competition if more frequent schedules could be maintained between various points.

Such frequency of trains has been impossible generally with the ordinary American train as it is usually operated. But a German railroad has recently demonstrated that smaller trains at faster speed could be operated, which might be followed with profit by our American railroads.

Using a stream-line combination Diesel-motor and electric train, two cars, with accommodation for a hundred passengers, made the trip from Berlin to Hamburg, a distance of one hundred and eighty miles, at a speed of ninety-one miles per hour.

Such small trains, operated frequently between various points, would attract many passengers back to the railroads who now use their own cars or the public busses.

ARTICLES THAT INSTRUCT.

W. D. ROBINSON, experienced newspaper man of many years, and formerly the major head of one of the departments of the Pica-yune, has another feature story in this issue of The Echo. Last week he wrote of an unknown industry at Pass Christian. This week he contributes another fascinating and interesting story of the pottery industry at Ocean Springs, where one might visit daily and view the display of coast-made pottery of the finer and better kind. There are many interesting phases of the kind along the Coast and from time to time this able writer and observer will furnish the reading public a chronicle of each.

WHERE DATE PLANTS PRODUCE.

THE far west of our country is ever a source of interest and writers find an inexhaustible supply of material. Much of our fiction is based on sections of the Pacific slope and intermediate points. Phoenix, Arizona, is the only point where the date plant in this country properly matures and is marketable. One's first glimpse of California is at Indio, where the date palm flourishes abundantly, with a temperature at times of 120. The Salton Sea is another object of curiosity, along the banks of which the S. P. R. R. line has repeatedly moved its tracks to a point farther away from the ever expanding waters.

BILOXI'S ANNUAL CARNIVAL.

BILOXI is engaged in extensive preparation for its annual Carnival parade and celebration on Mardi Gras Day. An invitation has been extended to Bay St. Louis, through the Rotary Club, to participate and offered one of the dukeships to this city, thus representing this city in the one and only celebration of its kind between New Orleans and Mobile.

We see where some professor wants an inquiry into a depression cure. Why not, it will help pass the time away.

France can loan money to Austria for political purposes but doesn't see a way to pay her war debts.

The death rate in 1932 was lower than usual but many predict a rising rate some years hence when the neglect of the current year brings on serious diseases.

TO DISCONTINUE THE "MARY JANE" COAST TRAIN.

FILING notice of its intention to the Louisiana Public Service Commission, at New Orleans, the Louisville and Nashville Company wishes to discontinue trains No. 11 and 12, popularly known to Coast patrons as the "Mary Jane," giving cause for such contemplated action that the business of this particular train does not justify its operation.

Hearing before the Public Service Commission was due Thursday of this week, at New Orleans City Hall, at 10 o'clock, before this is written, and the outcome will be watched with interest.

Chambers of Commerce and practically every public body along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, to say nothing of individuals, will be present at this hearing. General and unanimous objection to this train's discontinuance will be voiced. To take this train off, it is pointed, will serve to disintegrate the local train service and which means so much to this section. Surely we cannot afford to see trains discontinued from our coast service, not only for this fact alone, but for the reaction and moral effect it will have in other branches of public life and doing.

It will be remembered this train was put on as an experiment and soon proved both popular with the public and profitable to the L. & N. If the railroad company must reduce its operating expenses, surely we do not wish to see it at the direct expense of the coast. It is true many of our business people and individuals patronize the truck and bus service (for that is their own private business) but eventually at a cost to one and all. If we see trains discontinued ultimately we might see rails taken up. This has already happened elsewhere. Certainly we cannot expect railroad companies to operate at a direct loss. But in this particular instance we hope the services of the "Mary Jane" will be retained. To New Orleans and Coast patrons it is by far one of the most popular trains, and, perhaps, operated at less comparative cost than any other train.

BEAUTIFYING THE COAST COUNTRY.

THE Garden Clubs of the Mississippi coast along the Harrison county coastal towns have combined in the one effort of extensive outdoor planting and beautifying the public highway as well. Already the work has well begun. From the Jackson county line, at Ocean Springs, at a point where the OST bridge enters Ocean Springs the Board of Supervisors have planted considerable shrubbery and other evergreen plants.

This line of public enterprise in a section like ours with tourists all the year round is desirable and commendable. At Pass Christian it is noted this sort of endeavor has been carried to a point already where it is noticeable. Our chief asset is our native resources. To develop and embellish these is valuable and the hope is expressed that no interruption will cause the work to lag.

Hancock county Board of Supervisors have long ago taken the initiative in the matter as in evidence on courthouse square, and at a cost that is so small and practically negligible that a general approval by the public results.

Co-operating with the Board, Clerk A. G. Favre has given the matter much of his personal time and attention as necessary. Our people always take visitors to the courthouse because they point both to building and grounds with much pride.

The individual who has not as yet done so, might take the matter into consideration and give the front yard and back part of the living premises a little attention along these lines. It will enhance the beauty of the town and improve values.

EXEMPTING ONE'S HOME FROM AD VALOREM TAXES.

GOV. CONNER is so pleased and impressed with the results of the sales tax in Mississippi that press dispatches report he is seriously considering the possibility of asking the legislature to exempt homesteads in future from the ad valorem tax. He would ask that every man and woman's home be exempt from taxing. Of course up to a certain amount of value. A home costing many thousands of dollars, above that of the average man's, would not be entirely free of the tax stipend but would pay a proportionate share of taxes only after deducting the exemption.

This proposition is new and sufficient time has not elapsed whereby this subject might be considered feasible or practical. However, it is certainly to be desired and the hope of every home owner is that some relief may soon be forthcoming from the value destroying effect of the present exorbitant tax rate.

It was given out Tuesday that the Governor was seriously considering the subject of calling a special assembly of the Legislature. It is likely he has this subject in view.

CITY OFFICIALS MASTERING A BIG JOB.

A VISIT to the City Hall reveals a busy lot of officials, active in the performance of their duties. Receiving the public, giving information, and with uniform attention and courtesy to one and all, and especially at this busy time of the season when there is a flood of inquiries regarding taxes. It is by no means an easy task for newly-elected men to enter into the routine of a big business corporation like that of the City of Bay St. Louis.

Mayor Blaize is at his post from morning to night, a double duty as it were for he has much of the outside work to concern himself about. Commissioners Bourgeois and Perkins are doing the clerical work. They are already acquainted with the work of a maze of books that carry the cross sections of the city's different funds and business. They are cheerful and happy about their work. Nothing phases them. It is observed they are striving to serve the public and to perform the duties of their respective offices. It is a big job, but they have mastered the intricacies of it all.

SAUNTERINGS. From Where The West Begins.

TONY AND PEDRO ARE COLORFUL.

FROM down the street faint, discorded, strains of "La Dona Mobile" are heard. Closer and louder comes the music. A crowd of curious have gathered to greet and hail none other than Senior Tony, the organ grinder, and his monkey Pedro.

To all appearance, Senior Tony might have just this day stepped down the gangplank of a boat docking from his native Sicily. His baggy, green trousers are of corduroy. His shoes, wide-toed and thick of sole. About his neck is a red bandana. Eyes that sparkle with merriment are partly shadowed by a black, wide-brimmed slouch hat. But Tony's hat does not conceal his long, up-curved mustache, which is well worth the envy of some screen villain.

A heavy leather strap about his neck supports a portable organ, atop of which rides the grinning Pedro, while his master grinds out a tune, as he swaggers down the street. They come to a halt here at the corner.

Pedro, resplendently costumed in red velvet trimmed with gold braid, and white plumed hat, agilely descends with a little tin cup in hand. The monkey tugs at men's trousers, looking up into their faces. . . . expecting. . . and usually getting, a coin.

Children scream in delight at his comical antics. A smartly soda clerk calls his fellow worker out to witness, "a leaf from his family tree," this brings a laugh from the crowd.

When Pedro has collected all the pennies and nickels, his master gives a tug at his chain. Dutifully, the little monkey hands his cup over to Tony, and hops back to his organ top perch.

Senior Tony doffs his hat and grins. Then with a gracious "Mucha bliga," continues down the street, serenading now with, "Oh, Marie—My Marie," accompanied by the joyous shouts of youngsters tagging close behind.

INTERESTING DATES TO REMEMBER.

Here's a few nothings discovered while sauntering through the leaves of the new 1933 calendar, a gift of the family corner druggist.

Today, Friday the 13th is Arbor Day in Louisiana and Florida. Thursday, January 19th is the birth date of Robt. E. Lee. The month of March is an exact duplicate of February, with the exception that March has three additional days to its credit.

Mardi Gras falls on the last day of February. Easter Sunday comes on April 16th this year. 3 months of 1933 begin on Wednesday, 2 on Friday, 2 on Saturday and 2 on Sunday. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday mark the beginning of 1 month each. Wonder if this makes us eligible for a Calendology P. D. Q. degree?

THE KIND OF ADS NEWSPAPERS CARRY.

A new solar plexus blow is being aimed at depression in San Antonio. The delivery trucks of a large baking firm are carrying bright-lettered signs reading: "Wasn't the depression terrible?"

This optimistic spirit is to be complimented. The firms who have held their own through these trying times are those who have made good use of courage, foresight, and sound business judgment. You will always find advertisements of such firms in the columns of your newspaper.

During the recent siege of the flu, this writer was confined within the bounds of the house. For the information of other members of the male fraternity, here's an idea of what goes on behind the scenes while you perform the daily tasks:

After the hustle and bustle of getting Junior or Shirley Jean to eat their cereal, and finally, safely off in time for school, the household routine gets underway. There goes the phone. "Nope, its not for us, but we can't help from overhearing the trend of conversation."

"No, Mary I think the curtains would be much more effective with a deep flounce at the bottom, etc., (its all too Greek for us to follow) You must taste my delicious tomato preserves, etc., etc."

Let's try the radio. Maybe we can tune in on a good mystery drama, or some comedian as we do at night after the day's struggle. It's about 10 A. M. now. But no such luck. Here's some sister with a

Use This Laxative made from plants

Theodore's Black-Draught is made from plants that grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act—just as NATURE put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat.

In Black-Draught you have a natural, laxative, free from synthetic drugs. Its use does not make you have to depend on cathartic chemical drugs to get the bowels to act daily.

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

TRIBUTE TO WOMEN.

WHO are the twelve greatest women in the past one hundred years?

The National Council of Women, following a poll, announces the following vote result:

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, 102,762 votes.

Jane Addams, founder of Hull House in Chicago, 99,147.

Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross, 96,139.

Frances E. Willard, founder of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, 95,303.

Susan B. Anthony, woman suffrage leader, 84,231.

Helen Keller, deaf and blind lecturer, 84,239.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," 73,999.

Julia Ward Howe, composer of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," 72,276.

Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, 70,489.

Amelia Earhart Putnam, 43,399.

Mary Lyon, founder of Mt. Holyoke college, 40,831.

Dr. Mary E. Wooley, President of Mt. Holyoke college and delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference, 36,855.

In which conclusions, we may or may not agree.

One class of voters may hold to one belief, another class may hold to quite another.

All of us are full entitled to our individual beliefs.

However, if the vote represents a fair cross-section of America, it seems that Mary Baker Eddy has won a splendid following.

PROTECTING THE PECAN CROP.

Spraying with Bordeaux Mixture is an effective means of combating SCAB, but our Extension Horticulturist, says:

"Orchard sanitation has proved to be fifty percent of the fight against pecan scab. Experiments have shown where a system of orchard sanitation is practiced along with a spray schedule, scab can be controlled. Pruning orchard sanitation will enable the grower after two or three years to control scab with about three sprayings.

"In December, January and February, or before the buds burst in spring, all trees susceptible to scab should be gone over and any leaves, leaf stems or nut shucks found clinging to them should be knocked off. All this material as well as the debris originally on the ground, should be plowed under to a depth of 5 to 6 inches, or more, before the leaves unfold. A mold-board plow is best for that purpose. This will turn under a large part of the rubbish from which spores arise in spring to infect the early growth and no plowing should be done after the first application of spray or dust is applied to protect the foliage and nuts just after the nuts have set.

"Preventing leaf infection at that time is especially important. The dormant season plowing may well be delayed until just before the buds swell when the fertilizer for the crop can be applied and plowed under. If applied with the next plowing, after the first spraying or dusting, it should be very lightly worked in with a spring tooth or section harrow to prevent turning up the spores that are buried.

"Only the highest powered and best grade machines should be used for either spraying or dusting. Others will not give satisfaction."

Spray calendars giving formulae for spraying practically all nursery stock are available through this office.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE IRISH POTATO GROWER.

As the time approaches for planting the Spring garden most every gardener or farmer will, no doubt, want to plant for as large crop of Irish Potatoes as they will need for home use and possibly a few to sell.

Treatment of the seed potatoes before planting for control of scab has been used with perfect results. This (cold) treatment consists in mixing 1-4 pint fresh commercial formaldehyde (or formalin) with 7½ gallons water. Soak whole potatoes 1½ hours. If potatoes are dipped in or sprinkled with water then covered with burlap bags to keep them moist for a day or two before treating, the soaking period may be reduced to ½ hour. (Caution: Poison)

Some growers prefer the hot treatment. In this event, use 1-4 pint formaldehyde to 3-4 gallons water, heated to 124 to 126 degrees F. Temperature must be kept within this range during treatment. Soak whole potatoes 3 to 4 minutes, but no longer. (Caution: Poison.)

It would be advisable to use wooden containers for this material.

POTATO BUGS NO TROUBLE.

The old shell-back Colorado beetle does not do much damage by eating the potato plant, but is the source from which the slug come. Gather all shell-backs and kill them. Upon first appearance of slugs, mix 1 part powdered arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate with 4 parts air-slaked lime and dust every leaf thoroughly, or better still, use one level teaspoonful of powdered lead arsenate for each pint of water. Mix thoroughly and apply with a sprayer, covering both sides of the leaves.

Further suggestions for producing Irish Potatoes on a commercial scale will be furnished upon application to this office.

POULTRY POINTERS

Reasonable success in poultry raising in Hancock county is possible, but certain fundamental principles must be put into practice if one is to get the largest possible profit out of the business. Among some of the more important factors are disease control and production of feed.

Sanitary condition of yards, brooder house, coops and drinking-troughs are absolutely necessary if the various diseases of poultry are to be kept under control. The successful prevention of poultry diseases demands knowledge of their causes and effective means of combating these causes. Space will not permit discussion of means of control of the diseases, except to say that sanitation is the first rule. Circulars or bulletins describing practically all diseases and suggestions of methods of control are available through this office, or upon application to the Poultry Department, Mississippi State College.

Production of feed on the farm has its influence on percent of profit from sale of poultry. For proper growth and also for egg production certain concentrates are necessary, but many grain crops excellent for poultry as a supplement to the concentrates can be produced on many farms of Hancock County.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX SCHEDULE FOR PAST YEAR CHANGED

Exemptions Reduced From $1500 to $1000—Many to Pay Tax Who Heretofore Were Exempt

George L. Sheldon, collector of internal revenue for the district of Mississippi, writes to The Echo that the Federal income tax forms for the calendar year 1932 will be released to the public the early part of January.

Under the Revenue Act of 1932, which act is now in effect, an income tax return must be filed by every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, and every person residing in the United States, though not a citizen thereof, whose gross income for the calendar year 1932 amounted to $5,000 or whose net income amounted to $1,000.

Special attention is called to the fact that the personal exemptions have been reduced from $1,500 to $1,000 for a single person and from $3,500 to $2,500 for a married person, and that every person whose net income equals or exceeds the personal exemption is required to file a return.

On account of the lowered personal exemptions under the revenue act of 1932, many persons will be required to file returns for the calendar year 1932 who heretofore were not required to file income tax returns. To them notice is given that failure to file an income tax return subjects the delinquent to penalties imposed by law. Those who did not file returns for 1931 and are due to file returns for 1932 are requested to write the collector of internal revenue for the necessary forms.

Income tax returns are required to be filed with the collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which taxpayers live or have their principal place of business, so as to reach the Collector's office on or before March 15, 1933, to avoid penalties provided by law for delinquency.

Notice is also given that annual information returns are now available and should be filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Sorting Section, Washington, D. C., in time to be received not later than February 15, 1933.

MY PRAYER FOR NINETEEN-THIRTY-THREE.

I pray that Nineteen-Thirty-Three May bring good times to you and me, To every nation, tribe and clan, May bring good times to every man.

For hungry mouths, I pray for food, For raiment for the multitude, For light and heat and sheltered ease, And luxuries along with these.

I pray that peace may still prevail, That hate may prove a worn-out tale, That petty jealousies may end, And mankind meet as friend with friend.

I pray that distribution just May come, this year, as come it must, That unemployment, too, may cease, And civic righteousness increase.

I pray that more of moral worth May magnify a fruitful earth, That faith in God and faith in man May permeate each human plan.

I pray that men may crown their creeds With kindly thought and kindly deeds, That ancient forms may yield their place To less of law and more of grace.

That we may wear the Christian name May cease to put the Christ to shame, That you and I our hearts may school To learn to live the Golden rule.

I pray that Nineteen-Thirty-Three May bring to you and bring to me, And bring to each and all who live, The best that God Himself can give.

BEAUTY—YOUR BIRTHRIGHT

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

CARE OF THE HANDS.

TRY to have a professional manicure at least once a month. Whenever you wash your hands push the cuticle back gently with the towel as you dry each finger.

If your nails are brittle or the cuticle ragged, soak the fingers in warm olive oil twice a week. You can use the same oil repeatedly, if you will keep it in a well corked bottle.

Every week, give yourself a manicure. First, remove the liquid polish from your nails. Then file the nails and soak the hands for a few minutes in warm soapy water. Clean under the nails with an orange stick, the end of which has been covered with a small piece of cotton, which has been saturated with peroxide. Rub a little cream into the cuticle and using the orange stick, push cuticle back. A little powdered pumice mixed with the cream will help if the cuticle is stubborn, just be careful not to scratch the nails. Clip any ragged edges and the hard skin at the corner of the nails.

Apply peroxide on a small piece of cotton to cuticle to prevent infection. Apply white under edge of the nails. Scrub hands with a small brush, dry and apply liquid polish thickly, leaving the half moon bare and wiping off edge of nail to show white. Run point of orange stick around cuticle to be sure polish does not stick to flesh. When polish is dry, buff the nails.

Do not have the polish too dark nor the nails too long and pointed. If you follow these directions and use the hand lotion, you may well be proud of your hands.

THE SILVER LINING.

"Every cloud has a silver lining," Someone, somewhere, has said; "Laugh, and the world will laugh with you."

Most of us, also, have read. These words could be ever so helpful to us, were we troubled or sad. If we would stop, and think of them, How good we'd feel, how glad.

To believe, when the clouds are darkest, Of the lining, that's sure to be there, Wouldn't it help to make us happier, Wouldn't it lessen our worry and care?

To laugh, when your heart is aching, Is sometimes hard to do; But if you try, I'm sure you can, And the world will laugh with you, too.

—E. G.

Mr. Dubb—"This party is horridly dull. I think I'll go home."

Miss Sharp—"Oh, would you! That would make a big difference, I know."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

THE MARY JANE TRAIN.

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Jan. 10, 1933

Editor Sea Coast Echo:

Dear Mr. Moreau—I am writing in haste to ask you to interest yourself immediately in the welfare work of a serious railroad problem. As you know the L. & N. is considering taking off trains Nos. 11 and 12 known as the Mary Jane. What this means to the whole Gulf Coast, and especially to Bay St. Louis, you are in a position to anticipate almost better than any other business man in our section.

Now, may we have an expression from you setting forth the ghastly disadvantages that are sure to follow in the wake of such a detrimental decision: the loss of commuters; depreciation of all values; loss of business, etc., not to mention the prospect of eventually seeing the Coast as a residential outlet of New Orleans. Please put your best arguments on paper and at once to help keep the asset these trains mean to our interests.

Yours co-operatively,
FOR THE GULF COAST.

A CORRECTION.
Bay St. Louis, Miss.
Jan. 6, 1933.

The Sea Coast Echo:

Dear Sir:—I notice in to-day's issue of your paper a statement that Jack Schillings had this week completed the plaster and stucco work on my filling and service station. You have been misinformed. Mr. Shillings did have a bid on the contract but the work was done with Hancock County labor with a bid of about 8 per cent over his (Mr. Shillings) bid. I have already been criticized for not favoring home labor and will ask that you correct this statement, assuring again that I feel you have been misinformed.

I am yours,
A. J. MORAN.

Final Decision
He—Did anyone remark on the way you handled your new car?
She—Why, one man made a brief remark.
He—What was that?
She—Fifty dollars and costs.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

NEW YEAR GREETINGS AND A CARD OF THANKS.

S. J. A. feels that she can begin these first of her Echo Notes for 1933 in no better way than in wishing you a Happy New Year. We have just finished a most difficult year and we enter this new one filled with the hope of better things to come. May 1933 bring to each and all of you the fulfillment of your most cherished plans along with health and that peace promised to men of good will by the Christ Child in his crib at Bethlehem.

"1932" was for S. J. A. as well as for the majority of you financially speaking a most difficult year. That she should have come through it as well as she did she feels she owes to her by her many true friends and loyal supporters in Bay St. Louis. To all of these individually and collectively S. J. A. says, "Thank you."

To the P. T. A. particularly does S. J. A. wish to extend her heartfelt thanks for their work during the past year and especially for the successful drive which they carried on just before the holidays and which netted a neat sum to the gym fund. Again therefore to these ladies and to the sincere friends who so generously answered the appeal made to them through the P. T. A. does S. J. A. extend many thanks.

S. J. A. TEAM OF NEW ORLEANS TO MEET GOLD JAYS.

2:30 P. M. Sunday, January 15 in S. J. A. Gym

The Jays have been all smiles since the announcement made Monday that their sister team of New Orleans would be over to play them Sunday.

The S. J. A. "Speeders" of New Orleans enjoy an enviable reputation for their skill in basketball and have several trophies to their credit. This year the S. J. A. "Speeders" were runners up in the Catholic High School Tournament of New Orleans held just before Christmas. The S. J. A. cagers having lost first place to the Sacred Heart High School by a small margin.

A game at the Bay between the "Speeders" and the "Gold Jays" had been an annual and much anticipated event here until three years ago when we joined the Gulf Coast Literary and Athletic Association. This year, however the "Speeders" have become members of the Louisiana Athletic Association a fact in which we greatly rejoice since it allows us to meet our sister team once more.

The game is scheduled for 2:30 Sunday afternoon and we are most anxious to have a large attendance at this game. Don't forget the time nor the date, Sunday, January 15, at 2:30 P. M. Come and help us make our second game this season a victory. Admission 25c and 15c.

HIGH SCHOOL ELECTS CHEER LEADERS.

All enthused over Sunday's game the High School girls met in the gym Monday afternoon and elected their cheer leaders. Each girl gave the name of her first and second choice among those eligible for the position.

The five girls receiving the largest number of votes cast were Carrie Koenenn, Theresa Linam, Delta Lizana, Genie Harper and Catherine Lemieux. These in turn were then voted for individually and the three receiving the greatest number of votes were selected. The S. J. A. cheer leaders for the 1933 Basket Ball season are: Carrie Koenenn, Theresa Linam and Catherine Lemieux. "You can do much to bring victory girls. We'll be watching you Sunday, so show us what you can do."

SODALITY SPONSORS CARD PARTY FOR BENEFIT OF GYMNASIUM.

Date Set for Thursday, Jan. 19.

A card party sponsored by the Children of Mary will be given on Thursday, January 19, in the S. J. A. Memorial Hall. The plans for this party were not complete at the last meeting of the Sodality, but it is probable that the affair will be carried on in two divisions, one in the afternoon at three for the children with tallies at 15c and a second that same evening for all who wish to attend at 25c a tally. The prize for each table of the evening party will be a delicious home-made cake. You are all cordially invited to attend. Keep the date in mind, Thursday, January 19, at 3:00 and at 8:00 P. M. in the S. J. A. Memorial Hall.

HERE'S TO '33.

I hereby resolve
Says each Senior to absolve
Myself from tangles I did involve
In 1933.

From now on I declare
And willingly will swear
To be cautious and take care
Of 1933.

But I'm glad you're here at last
And that '32 is past.
Just don't go quite as fast
As 1932.

Remember, you're the year
When we graduate—I fear
So to us you're very dear—
1933.

It seems so strange to have it actually here, written at the top of our exercise—the new date, the new year, the present Seniors dream of the past, realized in the two little numbers "33."

Well here's to you with the best of luck and sad or glad (it depends on the individual) we'll be right with you—in June.

A Senior.

RESOLUTIONS OF CLASS '33 FOR THE YEAR 1933.

We, the Senior Class of 1933 hereby resolve in the presence of duly authorized witnesses that each one will do her best to become a model Senior during the rest of the term. We banish gum chewing, talking during change of classes and coming late to school. In addition to this the following girls resolve:

Theresa—to really study and bring home at least one book a day.

Evelyn—to give less time to Latin and more to French.

Carrie—to eat more and more and then some more.

Ruth Taber—to cease talking of how much she likes "rice."

Alma—to bring her homework in on time every day.

Lucille—to follow faithfully her special diet.

Catherine—Nothing—She thinks resolutions are all "bunk."

Yvette—Never to mention New Orleans except during recreation.

Elizabeth—to be satisfied with her own natural shade of hair.

Joyce—to give her free period at one to a more useful pastime.

Cynthia—She hasn't made up her mind yet.

Frances—She was so taken up in the rest of the Class Resolutions She's forgotten her own.
